

DocServe

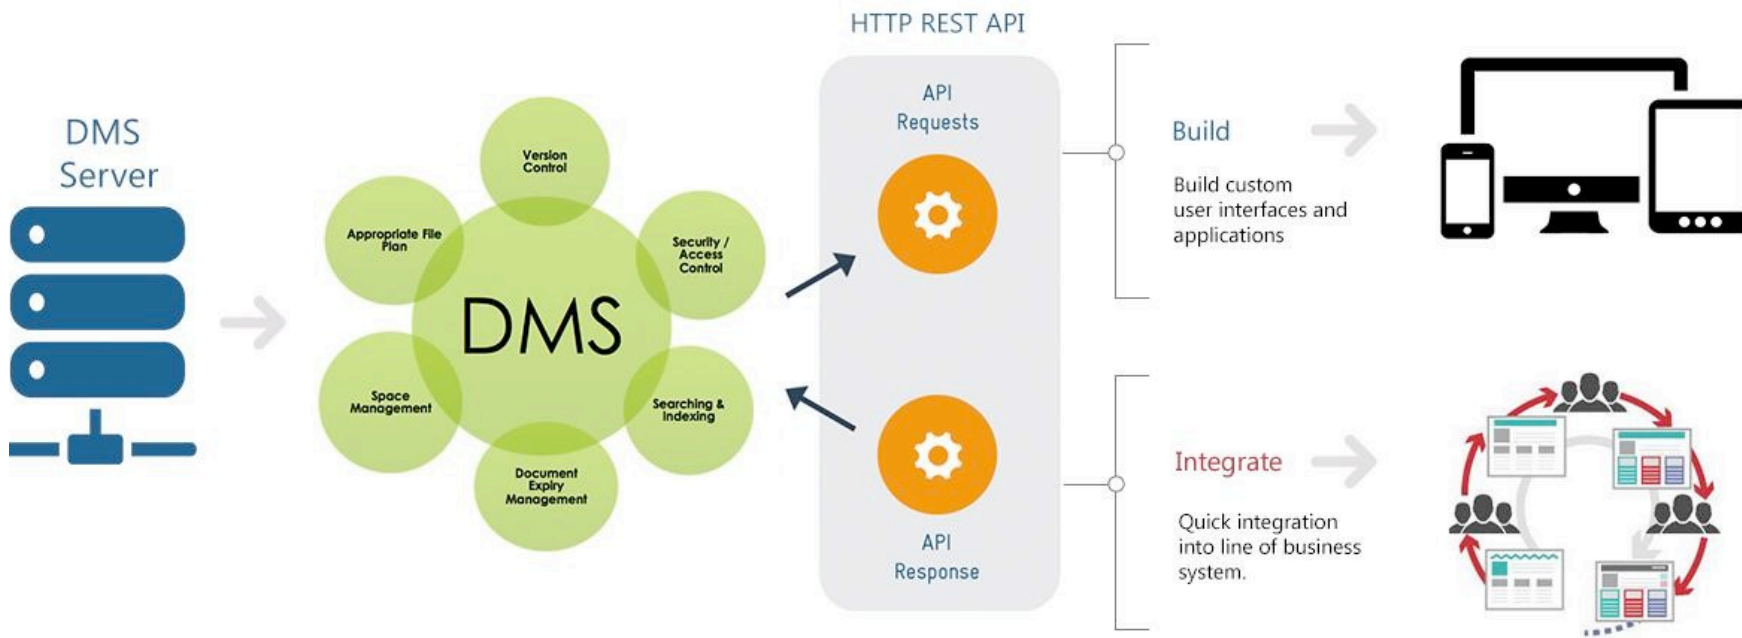

Document Management System

About DocServe

DocServe is an API based Document Management System that offers the classical functions of a document management system with the added benefits of allowing developers to build custom applications that can interact with DocServe.

Developers are able to use the DocServe API to retrieve documents, upload new documents, as well as perform search functions.

DocServe Architecture

DocServe Features

Accessible over LAN, WAN or Internet

Manage a centralized document repository with appropriate file plan.

Version Control

Access Control & Security Features

Searching and Indexing

Document Expiry Management

Space Management

No complex and chaotic folder structure

Developer API (HTTP REST API)